RESULTS OF SURVEY BY BETHEL PLANNING BOARD ANNOUNCED THIS WEEK

Bethel residents responding to a survey conducted by the Bethel Planning Board, expressed a willingness to see more money spent on Police Protection and Recreational Facilities. It is interesting to note that these sentiments prevailed in votes in these areas at the annual Town Meeting this week. Forty-three per cent of those responding wished to see more money devoted to police protection and 40% more for recreation. In the section of the questionnaire devoted to municipal spending, the other 12 budgetary categories found the greatest number of responses opting for spending the same amount of money as is being presently spent. The categories and the percentage of respondents indicating "same" were: Street Maintenance 68%; Fire Protection 73%; Ambulance Service 71%; Snow Removal 71%; Dump 66%; Water System 53%; Sewer System 50%; Sidewalks 60%; Planning 50%; and Public Health 55%. Two other categories found less cut and dried opinion. In assessing the amount for Public Schools, 7% opted for more money, 31% for less money, 47% for the same amount, with 9% unsure. Code enforcement, dealing with regulations on building, shoreland zoning, etc., in the town, received a fairly high number, 24%, of "don't know" answers, with 41% indicating that the same amount of money should be spent.

When given the choice between raising taxes or cutting services to meet increasing costs, 24% of those responding opted for a tax increase, while 39% wished to see services cut, and 22% were unsure.

One of the primary goals of the Planning Board in conducting the survey was to gauge the mood of the citizens regarding plans for the future regarding ordinances. There was a series of questions generally relating to the character of the town, and a re-sounding majority, 69%, opted for the preservation of Bethel's "Small town" character, and 66% wished to see the preservation of historic sites. Sixty-eight per cent wished to see regulations limiting the size and nature of advertising signs. Fifty-three per cent of those responding wished to see industrial development limited to designated areas of the town, with 81% opposed and 12% not sure. Forty-five per cent were opposed to limiting commercial development to certain areas, with 38% in favor of such limitation and 11% unsure. Fifty-three per cent were

In favor of limiting certain areas of Bethel to residential use only, with 37% opposed and 9% unsure. ## COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

With the Annual Town Meeting now behind us, your Town Manager and Board of Selectmen will be working hard to implement the policy direction given us by the voters. At a special meeting Tuesday night, the Board elected Arlan Jodrey as chairman for 1977, and gave outgoing Chairman Bradley Barker a unanimous vote of thanks for his work during the past year.

One of the first responsibilities of the Board will be the appointment of citizens to various boards and committees. We urge all residents interested in serving on any of the boards and committees to contact the Manager or any member of the Board of Selectmen prior to March 25. Active participation by concerned citizens on these various boards and committees contributes materially to community accomplishments. Appointments will be made to the Budget Committee, Recreation Board, Appeals Board, Airport Advisory Committee, Community Safety and Law Enforcement Committee, Radio Study Committee. Persons interested in knowing more about the duties and responsibilities of these committees should feel free to contact the Town Manager for information.

Copies of the 1977 Maine Fishing Open Water Regulation Summary are now available at the Town Office. Citizens who have not yet obtained a copy of the 1976 Annual Town Report may still pick one up at the Town Office.

Property owners are reminded that your list of estates should be returned to the Assessors by April 1, 1977. Forms for this purpose are included in the Town Report or a copy may be obtained at the Town Office. Applications for placing property under the Tree Growth or Farm and Open Space program must be submitted to the Assessors by April 1.

The Board of Selectmen will meet in regular session Monday night, March 14, 1977.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED IN CARNIVAL SNOW SCULPTURE

The Bethel Lions Club sponsored the Snow Sculpture Contest for the 1977 Bethel Winter Carnival on March 5, 1977.

Although the snow storm on Friday tended to hamper the sculpture-making process, there were entries that ranged from a magician's hat and magic show, to Snoopy on his house to a snow machine to a funny face and a 1976 flag.

The judges, Mr. and Mrs. Don Taylor, Ed Friel and Bob Early, had a difficult time picking the winner in the youth group where most of the entries were. Finally they voted the Magicians Hat prize rabbit and Magic Show the prize winner. The five youngsters who built this sculpture were Sean, Tim and David Kersey and Hunter and Harrison Landers.

The winner in the teen group was a replica of a 1976 flag. The participants in this sculpture were Mindy Merrill, Karen Brooks, Mary MacKay, and Becky Davis.

All participants are asked to be present on Thursday, March 10, 1977 at 3:30 p. m. in front of the Early Real Estate for the awarding of the prizes.

Congratulations to the winners and a "well done" to all who participated.

VIKING VILLAGE ASSOCIATION FORMED

Warren Bishop; Secretary-Treasurer, Paula Hodgdon; Directors, Les Otten, Sunny Fuller, "Tinker" Whittier, Sam Bailey.

The purpose of the organization is to promote the recreation, health, safety and welfare of the residents of Viking Village. ## ANNUAL BETHEL ELECTION AND TOWN MEETING HELD MONDAY

In daytime balloting at the Bethel Fire Station Monday, 458 Bethel voters indicated their preferences. All the incumbents were returned to office for three year terms.

Stanley R. Howe with 274 votes led in the race for selectman. Two term selectman Leland R. Brown received 226 votes to gain the second seat on the Bethel board, edging challenger Arlene B. Lyon by a narrow margin as she received 223 votes. The fourth candidate in the field, Jeffrey C. Prest, tallied 140 votes.

In the voting for the two assessor posts, Mr. Howe garnered 269 votes; Mr. Brown, 227; Mrs. Lyon, 224; and Mr. Prest, 144.

There was an inspection of ballots this Thursday morning in the Brown-Lyon contest at the Town Office. Results of the inspection indicate that a recount will be requested.

Current S. A. D. #44 Director Bettyann Hastings picked up 305 votes to lead in that race. Patricia B. Hudson was re-elected to the school panel with 291. Former district director and selectman John K. Brown trailed in the balloting with 256 votes.

In the evening business meeting held at the Telstar Auditorium, the appropriation recommendations of the Budget Committee were followed with two exceptions. The amount of Recreation in the Leisure Services, Parks and Cemeteries category was increased by $650, bringing the total in that section to $10,250 (compared to $9,591 recommended by the Budget Committee). The Budget Committee recommended $7,550 to be appropriated for Highway Department radios. This item was defeated by a 68-64 standing vote.

On the matter of borrowing $20,000 to purchase a vehicle for sidewalk snow removal, an amended article reducing the amount to $6,000 was defeated 73-71.

The voters repudiated a lot of discussion, the voters approved the exercise of an option by the Selectmen for acquiring a 400 foot wide strip of land adjacent to the Bethel Airport. Permission was granted the Selectmen to contract such services as are necessary for the development of an airport master plan. The Selectmen may apply for and accept private, state and federal funds for use in developing such a plan. An amount of $750 was appropriated as the town's share of the plan.

Today, wood spools represent but a small percentage of total production."

Stowell Wood Products, Inc. employs 100 skilled workers and sells its high-quality, native hardwood turnings, through its representatives, to national accounts in the furniture, toy, lamp, tool and giftware fields.

causes of accidents was drinking up three quarters of all accidents in 1965 96000 were killed on the highway. Mr. Bran read from a paper printed in 1976 which showed that they entertained the same troubles as we have today on a modified scale.

After the program the Grange returned to the business of the evening. The secretary, Charlotte Robinson and Lecturer, Neal Co-

CUB SCOUT NEWS
March 1, 1977. We walked to Dr. Garbarini's. He showed us all his instruments—his eyeglasses, shots, etc. He gave us a snack of sunflower seeds and told us they were good for us because we shouldn't eat too much salt.
March 8, 1977. We went to the Bethel Library and each checked out one book. We returned to the Landers' house and made book covers.—Jay Davis, Den 3.

— Olive Davis, Corres. —

Olive Davis went with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks to South Paris
Tuesday night to Oxford Pomona.
She went again Saturday night to Paris Grange for WCA, a night where the ladies held office. Verna Swan of Bryant Pond went with us also.

Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs.
Leslie Bryant and daughter, June, called on Olive Davis.

This week has been a week of good crust. How many went out to enjoy it? It would hold a horse so I went a couple of times. I found creepers were a necessity if you wanted to stand up on hills and I definitely did.

Mrs. Teddy Bowen and daughter Kelly spent the week end with her mother and relatives, Mrs.
Mina Morgan.

Mrs. Margery Gleason called on Olive Davis Monday morning.

Lloyd Merrifield, South Paris, is confined to her home for a few days with a sprained ankle.

It seems good to hear the crows once more.

Albert Nelson and Bob Millett went to his camp at Wilson's Mills for the week end.

Paul Files of South Paris visited his mother, Mrs. Agnes Files one day last week.

Town meeting will be in session Saturday, March 12 at the town hall.

tapping the Davis maple orchard.
I'm sure he will be glad to sell you syrup if you call on him.

There has been a mineral survey of the territory in the Molly-Ockett area this past week. They seem to be working the Molly Ockett fault area. On the Davis farm a line was run north and south through the meadow area over the hills. Several others have been run on Curtis Hill area. I wish they would explain more about this testing for the people's sake in this part of the town. As it was explained to me, they were testing for iron, copper and nium active rocks to see if Maine had valuable deposits. This has never been done in the state until about two years ago when the survey was started in other sections of the state. I do wish the people responsible for this survey would let us know the results of all their labors. Thank you.

I would like to thank all of the Woodstock voters who have supported me for the past three years in my bid for road commissioner.

The eaves are dripping this morning and the snow banks seem to be shrinking day by day. The seeds we ordered are coming in and we have started our peppers.

I noticed as we snowed through the woodlot yesterday, that many trees are beginning to bud. As the days get longer our hearts get lighter knowing spring is just around the corner!

Sarah Andrews and Arlene Gunther visited friends at the Rumford Community Hospital on Friday. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Watershouse.

On Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Albert McAllister took Sarah Andrews and attended the Senior Citizen dinner in Waterford.

The Arthur Wardwell family attended the dog sled races in Rangeley on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pope and Mr. and Mrs. Earl McAllister were Saturday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Inman.

Callers this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Stearns have been Norm Crockett and Kenny Bumpus.

Mrs. Myrna Barton remains a patient at the Osteopathic Hospital in Portland. Margaret Barton, Jimmy and Brett, went to see her on Saturday.

Callers at K-D's Acres this week have been: Mr. and Mrs. B. Wentworth and Barbara Inman. Thursday, Margaret Barton, Douglas and I went shopping in Norway.

Saturday night Dick and I went to Bryant Pond to visit Aunt Kay and Uncle Bill. Aunt Kay and Dick remain the cribbage champions!

As the long, confining months of a cold winter give way to the first gentle touches of spring we all have a feeling of restlessness. This feeling urges me to share the following with you:

"Afoot and light-hearted I take to the open road, healthy, free, The world before me, the long brown path before me leading Wherever I choose. . . . Strong and content I travel the open road."

He who calls a northern winter drab sees only its disguise. The land certainly doesn't lack color.

Long ago someone came and carved from the primitive, the wild, and untamed land this camp with its gorgeous fireplace and chimney. Today how sad it was, unattended, crumbling, and alone. Around it there was stillness except for the laughter as we tried to approach it from the opening. Under the thickness of the trees the crust did not hold well. We were so near and yet so far but we were determined to get close enough to see clearly and to take a picture. We did by various means, crawling, sitting, and slumping. We exchanged memories, our diaries of many years. They echoed from the past and will linger within the mind as long as it may last.

Going back facing the mountains there were snow clouds of diamonds, a white world of magical patterns and an icy wind at times on our faces.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

There is a hushed movement within the 31 days of March that pays tribute to the power of winter when Earth is hard, bearing a pulse faint and slow. Then come the winds that creep up from the south pulling out the stitches that have held it in bound. White masses of clouds move across the bowl of blue above.

Melting and freezing bring the crust. Nearly every morning it has been that way this week. So I have taken advantage of it and walked, my little world in all directions.

I found a maple branch, cut off by a trapper last fall, from which the sap was dripping. It had shaken itself from winter's drowsiness and was rushing upward to the maple buds.

"Barren-looking maple trees Have something more than what one sees For they, in early days of spring, Will share their sap, making buckets ring With trickles, drips, the sweetest flow Of juices anyone could know!"

—Eva N. Ehrman

Fay, Ruth, and I hike to buck's camp up on Noyes Mountain. How beautiful it was! The first clear white capped mountains, stood out clearly, always different yet at the same time. The sun from the east was smiling through. We passed many times to admire it all.

Our pace was slow as we took our way beneath trees, just as we please. It's good to stroll, with no set goal away from the rush and noise, the clamor and the speed along the roads.

After some time the going ever up, we knew we were near the old camp, hidden among the trees, which has been a landmark for over a half century. So many times we have visited it.

Long ago someone came and carved from the primitive, the wild, and untamed land this camp with its gorgeous fireplace and chimney. Today how sad it was, unattended, crumbling, and alone. Around it there was stillness except for the laughter as we tried to approach it from the opening. Under the thickness of the trees the crust did not hold well. ### WESTERN RAMBLINGS

Louise Chapman

Our trip to Wildlife Safari, Winston, Oregon, was the highlight of our Saturday's travels recently.

Headed for Crater Lake, we found the road into the park blocked by a minimal amount of snow. So, we headed back down the pass without any specific destination in mind. Nearing Salem, I suddenly remembered one of the many brochures that lay piled upon the kitchen counter, and suggested we might venture to Wildlife Safari where we could "drive you car leisurely across three miles of graded trails and view many different species of Asian and African animals roaming free." So, that's where we went.

Upon arriving, we were given our tickets, which allowed us each a free soda or coffee, a free Wild Animal poster, free admission to the children's petting zoo, and a cassette recorded tour of the park.

Cautiously we entered the domain of the wild inhabitants of the park.
An official gives us fair warning to roll up our windows. Sarah just laughs and anxiously encourages us to proceed. Both look over the landscape, not quite sure what they may see.

Pushing the button on the recorder we are told not to exceed 5 mph, if we need assistance, DO NOT get out of the car, but blow the horn and one of the rangers would come to our assistance, and to stop any time. If we should stop before we enter the next gate, and we have not heard the "beep," turn recorder off and wait until we reach the gate!

Our tour takes us through Asia and Africa where we see such things as elephants, ostrich, zebras, lions, tigers, and cheetahs.

At one point, after stopping to observe some camels and zebras, we took off down the road and watched as a camel lumbered after us.

I think he mistook Alan's Scout for one of his zebra friends.

It really was quite impressive to see all the different animals. It was a warm sunny day and most of them were really soaking up the sun, just lazily around or wallowing in the water.

The tiger area at Wildlife Safari is the first one established in the United States, and the largest lion in captivity lives in the park. The area is accented by large hills, oaks, firs and savanna grasslands cover the valleys. Endangered species found at the reserve include the cheetah, brown hyena, Bengal tiger, horned Oryx, and addax.

Feb. 20

We've finally experienced rain, a very welcome relief. It rained sporadically throughout the week.

Although this needed precipitation will not alleviate the serious drought, it will indeed help. Already, lawns are turning from dull brown to fresh green, and the rain gives a clean new feeling to a very dry landscape. Snow fell in the mountains, and more is expected. The Cascades had received already, as much as had fallen all winter. Again still not enough to "save" the ski areas altogether, but enough to keep some going.
Hopefully the rains will continue in the West and the sun will shine in the East.

Sasquatch

Not until I watched the special
"Bigfoot, the Mysterious Monster" on TV the other night, did I remember that the Pacific Northwest is one of Bigfoot's (Sas-quatch) home. The center for gathering and recording information on Sasquatch is located in the Dallies about 200 miles north of Eugene. The Dallies borders Washington State, and is in the Mt.
Hood area in Bennett Pass, elevation 4,670. Here in the dense forests and mountainous territory is one of the areas Bigfoot is stalked. Eyewitness accounts and sightings are examined, investigated and filed. People come on foot and in vehicles, carrying record-ers and cameras, each seeking a glimpse of or trying to capture the elusive "monster" on film.

Aerosol Sprays

March 1 and gone are all the aerosol sprays containing fluorocarbons from the store shelves in Oregon. The law, passed two years ago, went into effect today. These sprays, came about after two scientists at the University of California at Irvine announced their findings that the fluorocarbons in many spray cans cause the depletion of the 32 mile high ozone layer that shields the earth from the sun's ultraviolet rays, which can cause skin cancer.

Weather

More than 5 inches of rain fell in the Eugene area during February, but the drought is far from over. Rainfall since last September is still a record low of 11.73 inches, about one third the norm.
The previous record low for Sept.
Feb. was set in 1930-31. Even with normal rainfall through the spring reservoirs will be filled to only 60% of their capacity. Snow has been 16 inches of new snow reported in the Santiam Pass, but snowpack is still well below normal.
One location near Timberline Lodge on Mt. Hood, where the normal for March is 130 inches reported only 55 inches of snow.

I have yet to see Sasquatch, do not miss the aerosol sprays lining the shelves and am seriously aware of the drought. All things here are as influential on our lives as are things anywhere, and we must learn to cope, each with our different forms of hardships and inconveniences.

Letters to the Editor

March 8, 1977

To the Editor:

Thank you for permitting me the use of your columns to express my appreciation to the citizens of Bethel for their fine support of re-election to the Board of Selectmen-Assessors on March 7.

As I have always tried to do in the past, I will continue to strive to make the best possible decisions at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayers of this town.

Sincerely
Stanley R. Howe

PLANNING BOARD SURVEY

opment of Bethel, 48% responded in the affirmative, 44% in the negative, with 7% unsure.

In the general area of development, a very large number, 75%, were in favor of the establishment of new industries in Bethel, and 68% saw the need for additional commercial facilities, especially a competing food store and another pharmacy. Sixty-nine percent wished to see additional professional services, with medical services heading the list of added services. A question regarding the acquisition of land for "open space" by the town found 41% responding "no," 31%
"yes," and 21% "unsure." Residents were strongly in favor, 65%, of joint plans for solid waste disposal with area towns, with a smaller majority, 54%, approving joint plans for tourism promotion, and 44% voting for joint recreational facilities and programs, and 40% opposed to shared recreational facilities and programs.

Several town boards submitted questions which were included in the survey. The Recreation Board sought guidance to direct its efforts in acquiring a public swimming facility. Seventy-one percent of those responding saw the need for such a facility. Of those, 57% wished the Board to work toward purchasing an area on Songo Pond, and 42%, the construction of a public pool. Fifty-five per cent of those responding hoped the Board would plan to locate all recreational facilities in a single location, with 23% expressing a negative reaction to this idea.

The Board of Selectmen, faced with the problem of the condition of the fountain on the Common, sought advice on a course of action. Thirtynine per cent of those responding advised the Board to attempt a major repair of the existing fountain, with 21% advocating its removal, and 20% its replacement with a new fountain.

The Airport Study Committee posed the question of the future of Bethel's Airport, a subject which generated heated discussion at the 1977 Town Meeting. Thirty-four per cent of those responding would like to see the facility improved. However 30% felt that the airport should be continued and operated as it is today, and 13% want to see it closed, 15% unsure. 35% opposed the addition of a fixed base operation at the Airport, with 32% in favor, and a large 25% unsure. The question of a federal master plan for the Airport, which will be funded primarily by state and federal money, was a toss-up, 34% yes, 34% no, with 25% undecided.

A large part of the survey was devoted to gauging the level of satisfaction regarding the town services. The elementary schools in Bethel were seen as satisfactory by 50% of Breathin' Brushed Pigskin?

IT'S SOFT. IT'S CLEANABLE. IT'S COMFORTABLE. IT'S BREATHABLE.

Breathin' Brushed Pigskin Hush Puppies casuals are different.... The velvety brushed pigskin makes them that way. It's soft.... cuddling your feet from the first day you put them on. And it breathes hot air out, fresh air in thanks to nature's own design exclusive to pigskin. And a tanned in rain and stain repellency keeps your Hush Puppies looking newer longer.... never needing polish. What more could you ask for?

STATE OF MAINE
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Karen L. Brown

One of the public hearings this week before the Judiciary Committee was to consider my bill (LD #363), relating to the responsibility of parents to provide medical care coverage for minor children. The intent of this legislation is to assist the courts in defining the responsibility of the absent parent to support minor children, particularly when an AFDC grant is involved.

During divorce proceedings many judges have made the amount of support alimony obligation contingent upon the receipt of AFDC or other state assistance programs. The intent of Aid to Families with Dependent Children program and other public assistance programs, is to supplement other income a family may possess. AFDC was not intended to replace legal responsibility of a parent to support his or her children.

Availability of public welfare benefits to the family shall not affect the decision of the court as to the legal responsibility of the parent to provide support and medical care coverage for his or her children.

The Senate chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Senator Collins, presided over a full house at a public hearing Wednesday on his bill allowing terminally ill patients to refuse treatment. The bill LD #784, states that the measure is intended to "recognize that adult persons have a fundamental right to determine the extent to which they will receive medical care, including the right to determine that life sustaining procedures will be drawn or withheld from them in the event of a terminal condition."

Proponents of the measure argue that the bill would legalize practices already going on in the state. A spokesman for the Maine Medical Association stated his organization is supporting the bill, but said it would not substantially change anything.

Opponents argued that the bill would give too much latitude to doctors, insisting that the bill is too ambiguous.

At press time, the House and Senate were still divided on the issue of raising the drinking age. The Senate is insisting on 20 and the House continues to hold out for 19.

The Frank Vail house owned by George Scott's son in Massachusetts was gutted by fire. It is under investigation following discovery by Mr. Scott of tracks around the property.

A flock of geese have been seen but the person reporting them said they were southbound. Maybe winter was early and tough in their summer habitat so they've just made it out.

A small flock of black birds have joined other species at my feeding station.

Saw my first pussy willow today.

We had a good hard crust. I could walk just anywhere on it. I couldn't really enjoy it thinking of the dogs chasing deer, killing them, half eaten—while still alive.

If each owner of a dog, either tied the dog or stayed with it how could a dog go into the woods. I am an animal lover. It just bothers me a lot what is allowed to go on.

MRS. RUTH M. BROWN

Born in Bethel, Feb. 28, 1894, she was the daughter of Seth Louville and Addie Kendall Mason, and was the valedictorian of the graduating class of 1912 at Gould Academy. Mrs. Brown was the widow of Carl L. Brown, editor of "The Bethel Citizen" from 1927 until his death on April 12, 1963, and for many years actively assisted in the operation of the business. She was a long-time member of Sunset Rebekah Lodge, Bethel.

Survivors include five sons, Edwin L., Stanley L., Donald S., Irving W., and John K., all of Bethel; a sister, Mrs. Clare M. Smith, Bryant Pond; 16 grandchildren; six great grandchildren; a cousin, Clayton Kendall, West Bethel; a niece, Mrs. Jane S. Mills, Bryant Pond; two nephews, Albert C. Smith, West Bethel, and Dr. Charles M. Smith, Burlington, Calif. A son, Robert M., died June 3, 1929, at the age of 15 years.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Greenleaf funeral home, Rev. Ronald McKinstry officiating. Interment in the spring will be in the family lot at Riverside Cemetery.

The death of a mother is the first sorrow wept without her.

A Tribute to Ruth Mason Brown. A long and pleasant life is ended. She was a person of beauty and brilliance.

For many years she assisted her husband in editing the "Citizen". Her proof-reading was precision. They were justly proud of their newspaper's reputation of having no error in typography.

She was a loving and beloved sister and mother. Being a firm friend was second nature for Ruth. We grieve with her devoted family.

A very old friend,
Pearl Ashby Tibbetts

CUBS PICNIC AT COVERED BRIDGE

Cub Scouts and their families from Pack 566 enjoyed a ski tour last Saturday from Sunday River Inn out to the Covered Bridge where Steve Wight ably assisted by son, Eric, and two back-packing Sarah's had started a fire for lunch cooking. Out of the woods appeared Keith Wight, Brent Bachelder and Mike Jodrey met by Bruce Barth. Further up the trail I met Willie Rice and Scott Brown, who had left their Dads at the Monkey Brook Road crossing where they gallantly waited. A ski up the trail didn't reveal the missing Moms so I started back and met Cubmaster Al. We returned to campfire, devoured lots of hot dogs, deliciously charred, potato chips, limeade and cocoa. Alas, the best sports of all arrived smiling and hungry. Wendy and Shelly Rice and Carlene Bachelder got the "good sport awards" for the second year in a row. (I know they skied farther than I did) And Shelly deserves a hand also. What a great day—thanks to those who enjoyed it for making it all fun.—Jane Barth.

Note: Next Pack Meeting, Tuesday, March 29, at 7 p. m., Bethel Savings Bank—and we still need another Webelos Leader—want to help? Call Al Barth.

HISTORICAL SOC. FEATURES "THE ART OF THE CONSERVATOR"

Reports from the educational and research, museum and special projects committees were heard at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Moses Mason House. Featured during the program was a film "The Art of the Conservator" which detailed the work of Russell J. Quandt, conservator for the Coronan Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C. and for Colonial Williamsburg as he treated five Hudson River valley paintings of the Glen-Sanders family, now on exhibit at the Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Folk Art Collection in Williamsburg. The painting research, cleaning, lining, filling, in-painting, and remounting procedures were shown in full detail.

As the film makes clear, scientific analyses can be done with only a minute quantity of material. After the Mellon tests had been run on the minuscule crumbs of paint taken by scalpel point from the Sanders portraits, Dr. Robert L. Feller, Senior Fellow in charge of the National Gallery of Art Research Project in Artists' Materials, joked that he had "buckets" of the stuff left over.

The program concluded with slides of the portraits of Dr. and Mrs. Mason which last year were in the hands of a conservator, illustrating the various steps in their cleaning and preservation.
